Unique Welding is at the forefront of welding technology - we work closely with a select few leading global manufacturers to develop our own brand of welding machines and equipment. Our Thermamax products are market-leaders in terms of their world-class technology and innovative design. These customised ranges include machines and consumables for MIG, TIG, and ARC welding, as well as PLASMA cutting, and GAS cutting equipment and regulators. The Thermamax brand is unrivalled in the market when it comes to value and quality, upholding numerous industry and safety standards.

Unique Welding's entrepreneurial energy helps to meet customers' needs for flexibility, and steadfast reliability. We invest in our people – from employees, customers, stakeholders and suppliers, to the broader community. For this reason, we do not operate through call centres – people speak to people. This personal touch has helped us gain key customers in the energy, chemicals, food, transport, construction, manufacturing and mining segments with a significant number of cylinders in circulation, as well as a large number of bulk cryogenic tank installations under our belt.

Unique Welding's solid, strategic supply chain focuses on successfully managing the full product cycle - from sourcing and product development, to procuring, forwarding, warehousing and delivering. We work closely with our key suppliers, ensuring that shipments from abroad are managed end-to-end timeously.

We have a training centre offering product-specific training to optimise our clients' product usage. Technical training is also offered on-site by our fully competent staff. Furthermore, many of our branches across the country are equipped with fully-functional service centres where we are able to maintain and repair all makes and models of welding machines.

Unique Welding, a division of Weldamax (Pty) Ltd, is a certified BBEEE Level 4 contributor. All of our stakeholders, whether directly or indirectly, play a role in uplifting and empowering communities.

Weldamax was acquired by Air Products South Africa in 2022, and as such is a proud subsidiary of Air Products South Africa, who participates in the strategic growth and governance of our company.
